EXPRESSION OF INTEREST CALL

The University Institute of Research on Olive Grove and Olive Oil of University of Jaén (INUO) seeks to establish a Research and Innovation Network on Eco-sustainability in the Olive Grove to develop sustainable collaborative actions between different organisations from the academic and non-academic sector, based in Europe and beyond.

This proposal will involve a network of proposers - led by INUO - to carry out activities previously established in the joint work programme which will include actions such as the following:

- Scientific meetings of the Working Groups
- Workshops and Seminars
- Short Term Scientific Missions (STSMs)
- Training workshops and scientific conferences
- Dissemination activities

It is foreseen to apply for one of the European calls (COST, MSCA Staff Exchange) which finance short-term international and intersectoral exchanges of staff members involved in research and innovation activities of the participating organisations. Staff exchanges are open to international consortia of universities, research institutions, enterprises, SMEs and other non-academic organisations.

If you and your institution are interested in joining this Network, please complete the following fields and send the form to inuouja@ujaen.es.
